Communication

TO THE EDITOR.

DEAR SIR: Amid the charges of incompetence and corruption which the two factions of the once great and united Liberal party have been hurling at each other, are we not in danger of forgetting that the less prominent acts of a legislature are sometimes fraught with great consequences to the ordinary citizen.

Before the present session of our Provincial legislature was called our member, no doubt actuated by that glowing zeal which is said to animate new brooms and uninitiated members alike, called a public meeting in our village, at which we were informed that events pregnant with the great future of our country, were looming up and that he was prepared to introduce important legislation, some of local, some of general significance, and naturally the question now arises, What has become of all those important bills? Surely the legislature might have been discussing questions of a non-contentious character while the royal commission is sitting, and the roads in the vicinity of Cayley would then have been receiving the long promised attention; the Municipal Act, which was to have made the dead-beat pay his fair share of taxes, would have been pouring a revenue into both our school and municipal treasuries from the by-gone years; and the professional sponger would have been nursing his breechy darlings by his own hearthstone instead of feeding them on his neighbors' Alberta Red. But the greater part of a session has rolled away and nothing has been done. The session will shortly resume, and local questions bid fair to be relegated to the waste basket while admiring throngs of would-be statesmen listen to eloquence beside which that of a Gladstone, Brown or Blake must pale. Constitutional questions must always receive first attention, but that is no reason why the less important though more directly practical questions should be ignored.

Yours truly,
PESSIMIST.

The farmers of this country do not want to specialize in wheat growing. Mixed farming is the best for their land, for the country and for themselves. It is extremely foolish to rely on one crop and one resource. The mixed farmer has his various crops of grain, his horses, his cattle, his hogs, his sheep, his poultry, and his vegetables, and if climatic conditions strike one section of the farm adversely he has the other sections to fall back upon. This is the sane kind of farming and it should be encouraged and pursued in Southern Alberta much more than at present.

OUR DEAD KING

Little did we think that in this year of our Lord, as we looked to the day that we would celebrate as the birthday of our late beloved Queen Victoria, that that day would be darkened with grief and sorrow by the sudden death of her eldest son and our beloved and greatly honored King. He who has been spared barely ten short years, but in this short time has shown that he could rule this great Empire in justice and peace. The great and grand principles that his illustrious mother, Queen Victoria, laid down he has adhered to, and in a sense his mother has been reigning through her son these past ten years. May it be said for very many years from now that King Edward the VII. still reigns through his sons.

Our beloved Queen Victoria died at a time when the nation was shrouded and troubled by war, and, like his mother, King Edward passes away when the nation is at one of its greatest crisis. May he who shall take his place have the same courage, patience and wisdom, and be known as a Peace Maker, even greater than his father.

The present crisis in England is a very difficult one to meet and to solve. We only pray and hope that our new King may be one who realizes that the true strength of the vast British Empire lies in the great principles that has made her truly great and in the God that gave her these principles.

all the way through, you want every can of paint to be Pure Paint through and through. We know enough about paint to say without fear of contradiction, that painters seldom find an all pure paint. Some adulteration is put in for bulk or to cheapen. We bought a lot of—

to meet the demands of our friends and customers for a guaranteed Pure Paint—Pure white Lead, Pure Oxide of Zinc, Pure Linseed Oil only are used with, of course, the necessary coloring ingredients and dryer.

Come in our store and see the difference in this paint with other brands. Two gallons of Martin-Senour Paint will cover as much space as three gallons of other makes.

Judge Sifton denies the rumor that he has been approached to become leader of the Liberals in Alberta.

It is stated that the Duke of Connaught, in accordance with the desire of King Edward, will succeed Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada.

There is a rumor which seems to have a strong semblance to truth that the 44 ranch comprising a township and a large acreage under lease has been sold to a syndicate of which Pat Burns of Calgary and Major Mackie of the River ranch are the leading figures

To break 27,000 acres of land which they have just bought is the self-appointed task of an American syndicate which has purchased this tract of land from the Canadian Pacific Railway, and they intend to do their breaking this year. To this end they have purchased several 32-horse power steam plows and some of these are already at work.

At a meeting of the Macleod farmers last week Mr. R. Patterson was elected as their candidate to represent them at coming bye-election for the local legislature. Mr. Patterson said there are five things he would interest himself in if elected: Wagon roads, railroads, government owned elevators, schools and telephones. These are the things of vital importance to the farmer. Personally he considered the A. & G. W. deal a bad one.

PUBLICITY

Every city in Sunny Alberta is exhibiting a keen interest in, and is fully alive to, the great advantages to be derived in giving Publicity and scattering broadcast the possibilities and inducements for new comers to make their abode and cast in their lot with them. Towns and villages are following suit, and publicity committees have been appointed to look after this particular branch of the town's prosperity.

Cayley and its district need not be ashamed of the advantages and unparalleled productiveness of its soil it has to offer to the incoming farmer and the prospective citizen, who are looking for an ideal general farming and wheat growing country and a place of residence. We can deliver the goods.

At the last meeting of the Macleod council they generously and unanimously made the handsome grant of $1750 to the board of trade in that town, to be used by the publicity committee of that body in advertising Macleod. $500 is to be spent in special advertising, $250 for printing and distributing pamphlets, $100 for extra expenses, including special printing, $500 for special exhibit at Spokane and other fairs, $250 for entertaining visitors for benefit of town, the balance of the grant is for the ordinary expenses of the board.

We venture to say that the money so expended will bring in returns at a bigger interest than can be estimated, and will be one of the best paying investments that Macleod has spent its money on for many years.

Money spent judiciously along this line will be a good investment and give Cayley and district a big boost onward.
